NEW YORK CITY

A AN, AUGUST 10.—[Special.]—New York has been experiencing a considerable sensation, of awe, and even the demonstrations which has spread more or less excitement and anxiety and which is a matter supposed to be connected with the earthquake which has been felt in various parts of the country. Despite rather heavy rains a goodly throng of pedestrians, which would ordinarily be in the streets of the city to-day, were out in the middle of the day to watch the effects of the shock which was felt here yesterday afternoon, and provided a somewhat unusual scene. At 12:30 o'clock in New York [illegible] the shock was felt more severely than at any other time, and the air [illegible] was quite still, a deep atmosphere [illegible] which seemed through the city, causing the most substantial buildings to quiver. The shock was distinct, and without the least warning. Persons sitting in the rooms and [illegible] through the parks were suddenly aroused by a low rumbling sound, apparently [illegible] which was followed the most [illegible] and shocks in the bowels of the earth, which [illegible] the ground seemed to quiver gently. MONDAY, AUGUST 11, 1884.

The semi-centennial of a new Catholic church was held at Galesburg, Ill., yesterday by Bishop Spalding. Bishop Ireland preached the sermon of the occasion.

Charles Dana, an old and prominent resident of Hudson Township, near Evansville, in this State, called his life-friend to his bedside by dropping himself dead from a rafter in his barn.

It is practically settled that the Republican Party of the Seventh Iowa District will renominate Hon. Horace Boies for Congress to succeed Hon. H. Kasson. Congressman Kasson will be remembered in the Tenth District.

It is probable that the Republican Convention for the Fourth Iowa District which meets at Denison, Wednesday, will nominate H. H. Keating of Mitchell County for Congress. The district is now represented by "Tommy" Weller.

The Iowa State Veterinary Surgeon got between the horns which has appeared among the cattle in the vicinity of Lemars to be Texas fever. He says that he has no fear of the spread of the contagion if ordinary precautions are taken.

Samuel Bellard, the agent of the State-Line Pacific Express Company at Bridgeport, Ohio., has been arrested at Pittsburg, Pa., on the charge of opening various packages and appropriating their contents. Bellard will be held to await a requisition.

Solomon Kirk Clerk of the United States Circuit Court, Ia., and a prominent politician of that section, committed suicide yesterday morning by shooting himself through the right temple. He had been suffering some time from mental derangement.

George Westinghouse, the agent of the Philadelphia Patent-Car Company, has purchased for that corporation about three-fifths of all the mineral-gas territory of Western Pennsylvania. The purchase covers a tract of 17,000 acres. The price paid is not definitely known.

Charges have been preferred against A. B. Hughes, Collector of Internal Revenue of the Memphis (Tenn.) district, by a the Chicago counsel named Andrews. The charges generally allege that Mr. Hughes removed his predecessor and made improper appointments.

Samuel B. Maxey, a leading colored man, died at Fort Gibson, Ia., yesterday. He was once Speaker of the Smith Carolina Assembly, a member of Congress, and at present Colonel of the State. Since the collapse of the Republican party in South Carolina he has lived at Fort Gibson.

The body of Henry Lee, a well-known citizen of Platte County, Missouri, was found dead six miles from Kansas City on the Kansas City, St. Joe & Council Bluffs track. It is thought that Mr. Lee was murdered and that his body was laid on the track in order to make it appear that he had been killed by being run over by the cars.

A man whose brains are in a confusion of disorderliness for a considerable morning discovered the body of Lemuel Partridge, James McKenzie, David Kinnie, and John Graham, four weight miles the falling walls of the burning buildings and cried. Robert Miller and Samuel Kelly were badly injured. Some others were seriously hurt.

It is probable that Chief Deputy Sheriff Marshall Crosby will be nominated by the Republicans for Attorney-General of Iowa, the principal competitor is Gen. Baker of Jefferson. Judge Babcock is the favorite candidate for Judge of the Supreme Court, though the friends of Judge Rorer are pressing his candidacy hard.

Grace Ugh Sharpe of Fort Wayne, Ind., against the estate of Thomas and Logan the Democratic papers have been stating the contrary, referring to him as "ex-governor Williams," and "a South Bender." The Sunday Telegraph of Evansville, a paper in which is the interest of the widow Andrews, owned by Hugh Hoagland's friends, and many of the men in Indiana, hastily took nothing about which he knew. He has probably since the nominations. He was a member either from Iowa, Ill., until July, '84, and was not heard of as a settler with the last word to Hannibal." The Telegraph says the Boodlers expect to sell off their logs.

The Washington Capital, a Democratic organ, advises Cleveland to get married. By doing so he will satisfy a large section of the party, and will do much to put an end to some of the scandalous stories that about him. The Capital does not advise Mr. Cleveland to marry any particular woman, and makes no allusion to the Maria Halpin.

A. H. Revo & Co., agents distillers of Louisville, have issued a circular to the trade asking their signatures to an arrangement for closing the distilleries for one month in order to force up prices. Unless the signatures of two-thirds of the distillers are obtained there will be no effort to enforce the arrangement.

The iron-works of Rogers, Brown & Co., at Youngstown, O., will resume today, affording employment to 1,000 men until Dec. 1 at least. It has been reported that Mr. Atherton, Jr., of Chicago, who is now in London, would quite control the works, but some of the principal creditors say that is untrue. The reopening of the mills gives great satisfaction at Youngstown.

The Democratic Congressional Committee are awaiting discouraging reports from most of the Congressional districts. It is said that if State and Congressional tickets are to be elected this year the Democratic party must be assisted by Independent organizations and Republicans. Mr. Hoffmann, the Secretary of the Republican Committee, is confident that only of three districts will be carried by Republicans, and that the next House will have a Republican majority of at least ten.

It is the purpose of the Democrats to open their campaign about the 1st of September. They will not make any special effort to arouse the Republican majority in States of the State election, believing, probably, that it would be utterly useless. It is the intention evidently to make the campaign short and sharp. Gov. Cleveland's policy in leaving the letter of acceptance is in accordance with this policy.

Reformatory Democrats in by no means certain of securing the nomination for Congress at the Republican Convention of the Fourth Michigan District which met for that at Three Rivers Friday. Of present indications there will be a contest, and it is thought likely that the opponents, Dr. Baxter of Otsego and E. W. Keightley of Three Rivers, will continue against him. Dr. Baxter's chances are thought to be good. The Democrats will probably nominate ex-Gov. Croswell, who will receive the Greenback support.

A severe shock of earthquake was felt along the Atlantic coast yesterday afternoon at 2 p. m., extending from Philadelphia to Portland, Me., and as far inland as Cleveland. The shock lasted about ten seconds and caused very serious alarm, particularly in New York City. No serious damage was done, though houses were badly shaken and many ceilings were cracked. The people in the tenement-house districts were almost frightened out of their wits, children screamed, women fainted, and prayers and lamentations were adopted. Before the shock heavy, dark rain-clouds appeared in the sky and there was a rush of wind such as usually precedes a heavy rainfall. It was some hours before the people got over their fright. Many natural gaswells were greatly agitated by the occurrence. A second shock was felt at several places.

The Rev. Dr. Gribble, pastor of the Wash Congregational Church on Madison street in Salt City, referred yesterday in his sermon to the keen eye that certain clerical gentlemen of the Utah bill in reference to public morality. Gribble, he said, the General Here have been acting by using their influence to help elect a man to be Postmaster of the United States who is a grave law-breaker. He contended the conduct of Hunt in reporting the Senate Covered Mails who had enforced Gentile with that of the modern preachers who try to condemn the conduct of the Democratic convention by saying that its vice was a mere subscription, but Pete stood by Gentile to the end. He did not say, the reverend gentleman said, to justify a cowardly assertion by accepting and giving currency to scandalous reports of his authority with others. It was the duty of ministers of the Gospel to denounce the political libertines and to help their defeat.

Mr. S. Corning Judd, the Illinois member of the Democratic National Committee, returned to his city yesterday from the East. Mr. Judd was pleased with Cleveland. His two expressed more enthusiastic than his previous words indicate. The letter of acceptance will not be published for three weeks. It is finished now, but there will be numerous changes before its promulgation. Mr. Judd says that while Butler's announcement that he would be a candidate did not surprise the Democrats, they were not to which that Cleveland's vote in New York State would have been larger had Butler not appeared before. He says the Butler scandal will not figure in the campaign. He admits that Cleveland held improper relations with the woman, but falls back on the theory that it was the woman's fault. "The proper is a blackmailer and a disorderly character," Mr. Judd remarks. He thinks that John Kelly can lost much of his power, but that he will the majority of the Tammany men will vote for Cleveland, though many of them may vote for Butler.

The Democratic managers here evidently contident that votes may count be invented about Butler to offset the terrible scandal of national in the case of Cleveland, and they have found in the Chicago Times a willing tool to do this dirty work. The story is now which was started in print, the case dates eight years ago to a local paper in Kentucky, which afterwards exhausted the matter. As told in that form, the report would have reflected credit on Mr. Butler rather than have injured him if there had been any truth in it. As will now, it is barely an intimation that some dirty three-years-old, which Butler was a young man (it at the years old and becoming an attorney with a girl which led to the departure of both parties from the Town of Enough here. The girl came to her senses, and at one explain for the both of the parties concerned. The only basis for it alleged is the previous publication in that Mr. Butler emigrated from Kentucky thirty-three years ago, which everybody knows, and the assertion that the scandal got also left the State and never returned, which is probably true of a large number of young persons. It happened, however, that the very day this story was prepared for the Chicago Times Mr. Watterson made a statement to one of the New York scribs to this effect. He (Watterson) had been informed by "somebody," but he declined to mention the name, that Butler's record in Kentucky was a very good one. Watterson's word is a guarantee, a Democrat, and a resident of Kentucky is the most valuable answer that could be made to the slander, especially when a personal knowledge him. The Times "endorses" and has also here, and here the Cleveland scandal, which is known, stylish, and unblemished, is passed on its way gentle.

THE AUSTRIAN ANNEXATION.

While most who were acting or not a few everybody treated a case out. There are the, the few scattered from which they are quite, hard-cash, etc., were 10 to 50 per cent higher than they are now a period of more inquiries to satisfy the demand for silver. When the last dollar was coining from 150 to 180 the people were counting for them, and there was a kind of anguish from the last agreement of the house from Washington of coining of their superabundant by stopping the purchase of certificates coming dollar. Now coin calls are issued at a rate of daily accession gain, and probably about Dec. Some of the coining dividend coining profits were recently down, to about one-half of their highest point, and until the conference has acted to keep them. Wilson said in his speech that silver should in some terms the average price of the last quarter of a century, and there was the less opposition on the part of capitalists to touch it than there has been heretofore. Many of it was willing of term the account. It seems to a man to give reasons why prices should be better than they have been, but it is not easy to advise, on the basis of supposed and might, the course of such persons matters in those adverse that are most likely to avail issues. People did not make laws, gain of patriotism to idle, and do they devote from the wording of bank proposals to life. People do not and may have bread to live from to-day without, there has been an incident to the undersecretary not look. He has there been a sufficient increase in the production of these articles to account for the difference in the prices. There has been a large reduction in the output of many commodities in the last year-month. The low prices must therefore be the result of the weakness of the world's purchasing power. There is a pretty solid what to this extreme. There is a feeling in the popular estimate of the value of things, and failures are followed by a shrinkage accept. Some day the public will wearing to and that they have gone too far. There are always shrewd men who, seeing the times better than their neighbors, avail themselves of just such opportunities for the purchase of articles at intrinsic value.

Buyers and sellers are members of the same machinery, and one sees the ups and there exhibitions of a feeling that the bottom have gone too far. Buyers have acted on this promptings lately in the stock market, which is hopefully the last place that should had any improvement. As silence does before there is a quickening of trade in merchandise is the result of a guess that better business is coming, and that power is wrong when there is a "corner" in the other market which, though not very significant, are worth something. Michigan 5 Stores have recently sold in Boston at 30 cents a pound, which is cause from they have been before for twenty-five years. They grow tremendously attached good having and the price has advanced. The wool market all over the country has of late been stronger than for a long time, and the advance have begun. It is reported that there have been considerable purchases of wool for capitalists who are determined to hold it until they can get a profit. Their anticipation would seem to promise success to those of the extremely small output from the Ohio and only and the facilities that have for harvesting at favorable rates. In the world-wide there is also a movement in the grain, and one of the encouragements to an effort to prevent further sudden rates of transfer to New York. The position of the matter seems to us so strong as that of most others, and it is possible if the extreme reluctance of capitalists to put money in the wills will be sufficient to supply the market.

Whatever signs of promise there may be now, it is certain that there is no general revival of business yet, and no such evidence of a considerable revival in the fall as would warrant a departure of the conservative policy that prevails among business. The wonderful have been the most successful in the past

An unfavorable opinion latter and [illegible]

New York, Aug. 16.—[Special.]—A few days ago London says: A reporter today drew Mr. Davitt's attention to the letter published recently by Mr. Biggar declining to be present at a dinner on the occasion of Mr. Power's granting an interview to the correspondent of Mr. Davitt should be there. Mr. Biggar spoke at the reason the wide difference of opinion existing between Mr. Davitt and the Fenians on the subject of land nationalization, and also his disapproval of the line of action pursued by Mr. Davitt on several occasions. Mr. Davitt said:

"I do not intend to be present at the demonstration in Monaghan. It is more than such a gesture of righteousness as Mr. Biggar should be inconsistent with even the breath of my self-respect. For my part I have no wish to have the organization of Irish Parliamentary, a meeting any doubtful, think from the origin of the letter for behalf of parties. I have heard the latest Clerical plot for the Dublin Parnell, but I should think [illegible] to be more likely to go to the portrayal of Mr. Joseph." Mr. Davitt declined to say what leading electricity to any party opinions. I do not wish to divide the Party. But I have some opinion my individual opinion to interfere with united action."

GENERAL GRANT.

The general impression here is that Mr. Biggar's letter has prompted by jealousy of the movements with which Mr. Davitt is connected or of personal views for success on the platform, and that the Fenians given are even known for avoiding a public meeting at which one or the other would have to take a back seat.

John F. Hines, a waiter, assaulted Ed Ryan Saturday in front of No. 91 Clark street and broke his nose. Saturday was taken to the County Hospital and Ryan to the armory, where he is booked for assault with intent to do bodily harm.

Yesterday the Knights of Labor held their fortnightly meeting in No. 241 South Jefferson street. The organization decided to give its annual picnic and other entertainments at Ogontz Harbor July 31. The committee of the meeting was invited to receive invitations.

The Town of Lake police yesterday arrested John Williamson upon a charge of attempted murder. Late Sunday afternoon Williamson met his wife Jennie, separated by a quarrel, when Richard Deering interfered to the woman's behalf with the result that the accused cut him on the head with a bar of iron, inflicting a dangerous wound. The injured man is one of the most faithful of Williamson's wards.

There was a very large attendance at the evening service yesterday in the Church of the Ascension, it having been announced that the Rev. Arthur Ritchie, the former rector, who is now the rector of St. Ignatius Church, New York, would preach. The news was announced in the Rev. E. A. Larrabee, and after the gospel Father Ritchie preached briefly upon the relations between worship and spiritual life. He showed that all could give themselves to worship and spiritual life, but no matter what might be the character of the worship it could not be spiritual unless it was the result of the spontaneous impulse of the worshipper.

A number of the survivors of the Fifty-seventh Regiment of Illinois Veterans met yesterday at the Grand Pacific to make preparations for the reunion of the regiment to be held at the Chicago Driving Park Association grounds. There are about 1,000 members of the regiment living in Chicago, and it is expected that about half that number will meet on the 20th inst. for the reunion. Col. Ira J. Mills presided over the meeting, and there were present Capt. Ira Buell, Capt. Wm. Hall, Capt. Wm. Hoyt, Capt. Wm. Hamilton
